Introduction

The Language and Culture Division (LCD) provides accountability with support to districts[1] that serve students participating in Bilingual Multicultural Education Programs (BMEPs) to ensure that all participating students achieve the program goals as outlined by New Mexico statute and administrative code: (1) students become bilingual and biliterate in English and a second language, and (2) students meet all academic content standards and benchmarks in all subject areas. BMEPs offer a general education experience that is provided in two languages. The purpose of the Bilingual Multicultural Education Programs Annual Report is to comply with state statute and inform stakeholders regarding the state's BMEPs. The LCD actively works to provide data that can be used in meaningful and purposeful ways. To that aim, the report focuses on these four key areas:

1. Reporting data collected on district, school, and student participation.
2. Reporting data collected on language proficiency to assess progress on the first goal of BMEPs for students to become bilingual and biliterate.
3. Reporting achievement data based on the Istation, New Mexico Measures of Student Success & Achievement (NM-MSSA), and New Mexico Assessment of Science Readiness (NM-ASR), for relevant student groups, to assess progress on the second goal of BMEPs for students to meet all academic content standards.
4. Evaluating and determining program effectiveness and use of funds for BMEPs.

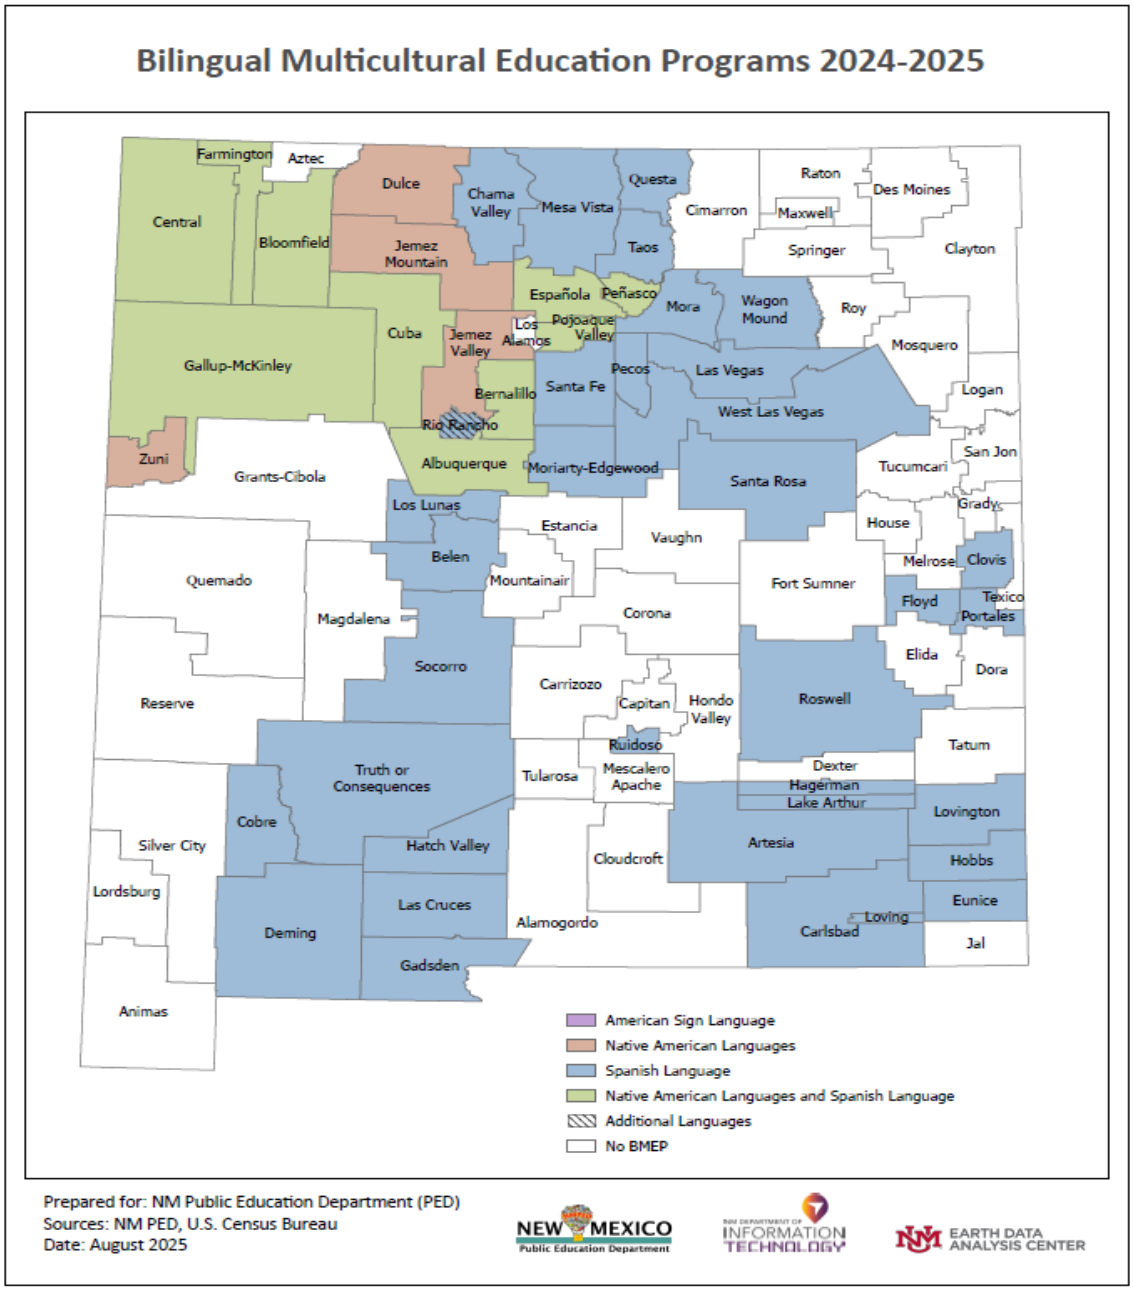

The following report provides data from the 24-25 school year (SY), including some longitudinal data for comparison over time. Not all data is uniform, which is noted whenever it might factor into the interpretation of data results.

Note: For SY 23-24 the NMPED transitioned to a new student and teacher reporting system known as Nova. The new system replaced the Student Teacher Reporting Accountability System (STARS). Reporting for SY 23-24 references 120th day data where applicable, rather than 80th day reporting as in previous years with STARS. SY 24-25 uses 80th reporting.

[1] District refers to school districts, district authorized charters, and State (Public Education Commission) authorized Charter schools.

State Map of Bilingual Multicultural Education Programs by District 2024-2025

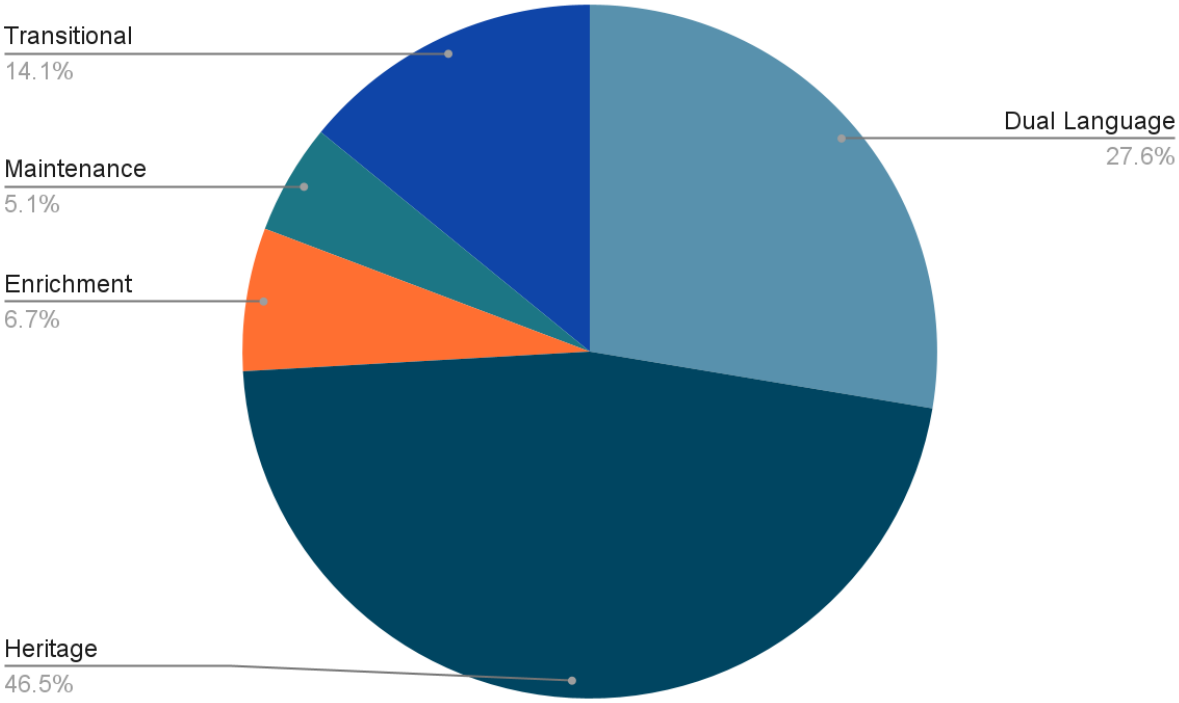

The map below illustrates district participation, by language, in the state's BMEPs. In the 24-25 SY, 50% percent of school districts in New Mexico implemented state funded BMEPs.

District and School Participation in BMEPs

In SY 24-25 NM districts implemented 525 Bilingual Multicultural Education Programs (BMEPs) across 415 schools. Many schools offer multiple BMEP models to best cater to student needs. Figure 1 provides a breakdown of BMEPs by model.

Note: Appendix F contains a comprehensive list of BMEPs, organized by districts

Table 1, below, shows that in SY 24-25, the number of schools participating in BMEPs increased by five from the previous year. The total number of districts participating in BMEPs from the previous year also increased by three. The consistent number of schools participating in a BMEP may indicate districts' efforts to meet the cultural and linguistic needs of students and support students to meet the objectives and goals of the BMEP as outlined in BME Act.

District/School Participation by Spanish and Native American Languages

BMEPs in New Mexico provide instruction in multiple languages. In NM the languages most offered in BMEPs are Native American languages and Spanish. According to Table 2, below, the total number of schools with Spanish BMEPs decreased by eight schools in SY 24-25, when compared to the previous year. The total number of Native American language programs decreased by nine. There were 42 schools that offered BMEPs in both Spanish and Native American languages. Factors affecting these changes may include the continuing need/desire for BMEPs by school communities, student demographic changes, change in parents' desires for their children to participate in BMEPs, and student enrollment. Table 2 shows slight fluctuations in the number of schools participating in BMEPs.

Table 2. Participation by Languages Taught

Note: Some schools offer both Spanish and Native American language programs.

Student Participation in BMEPs

BMEPs in New Mexico districts strive to provide quality services to a diverse student population from different ethnic and cultural backgrounds. The total number of students who participated in New Mexico BMEPs in SY 24- 25 is 46,401. Table 3, below, illustrates the number of students participating in BMEPs by ethnicity in the last five years. The highest participation by ethnicity in a BMEP was Hispanic students, which can be attributed to the higher enrollment of students who identify as Hispanic in current and previous years.

Table 3. Student Participation in BMEPs by Ethnicity

Note: Starting in SY 23-24, "Not Provided" is an option for ethnicity; these counts are included under "other students".

Table 3 shows that in SY 24-25, Hispanic and/or Latino students comprised 65 percent (189,319) of the total 290,686 student population attending districts in New Mexico. Furthermore, Hispanic students comprised the largest ethnic group participating in BMEPs — with 33,873 students, or 73 percent of all students in BMEPs.
Native American students accounted for 11 percent (32,236) of the total population attending New Mexico's district and charter schools. Native American students comprised 18 percent (8,352) of all students in BMEPs. In SY 24-25, the number of Other Students (including students who identify as Caucasian, African American, and/or Asian, non-reported, etc.) accounted for 36 percent (69,131) of the total population attending New Mexico's districts and represented 9 percent (4,176) of students participating in BMEPs.

Note: For a total BMEP student enrollment by district and school location refer to Appendix H.

Table 4, above, shows that in SY 24-25, 38 percent of all EL students participated in BMEPs. In comparing SY 24-25 to the previous year, the participation of EL students in BMEPs decreased by 29 students. The total number of EL students in New Mexico increased by 2,790 students as compared to the previous year.

The program language most offered in BMEPs in New Mexico is Spanish. Table 5, below, outlines the number of students enrolled in Spanish BMEPs since SY 21-22. When comparing SY 24-25 to the previous year, there is a decrease in student enrollment of 136 students in Spanish BMEPs.

Note: In accordance with 6.32.2.12 NMAC Native American languages can only be taught in districts with approval by tribal councils or other appropriate tribal entities with authority to make education decisions on behalf of Native American children. Lakota became an approved BMEP language in SY 22-23.

Of the eight Native American languages spoken in New Mexico, seven were taught in districts in SY 24-25. The only Native American language indigenous to New Mexico that was not taught in districts was Mescalero Apache. The Diné language had the highest number of Native American students enrolled, and the Lakota and Towa languages enrolled the lowest number of students. The total number of students participating in Native American language programs increased when compared to the previous year by 982 students. Table 6 details these figures.

Note Data for all additional languages except American Sign Language was self-reported by districts. This information was not available in Nova for SY 24-25 due to reporting technicalities.

Starting in SY 24-25 districts had the opportunity to expand their BMEP offerings to include additional languages besides Spanish and Native American languages. The additional languages offered were American Sign Language, Chinese (Mandarin), French, German, Italian, and Latin. These totals are expected to grow in the next few years as more districts begin to offer BMEPs in additional languages. Table 7 showcases the number of students participating in each language in BMEPs in New Mexico.

Language Outcomes for BMEP Students

The Bilingual Multicultural Education Act requires districts to maintain language proficiency data, which is in line with the first statutory goal for BMEPs — that students become bilingual and biliterate. Districts are expected to compile, analyze, and make determinations for their BMEPs by looking at English Language Proficiency (ELP) and home/heritage language proficiency data.

The following subsections provide information regarding BMEP Goal 1 (students become bilingual and biliterate). Students in BMEPs must be assessed for proficiency in the English language (applies only to ELs) and in the home/heritage language (second language) until they reach proficiency.

The students who were assessed in the home/heritage language of the BMEP may fall into the following ELP groups:

- EL students
- Reclassified Fluent English Proficient (RFEP) students
- Initially Fluent English Proficient (IFEP) students

To determine growth patterns within the language proficiency categories for a particular district, please see previous BMEP Annual Reports; reports are available on the LCD BMEP website:
https://web.ped.nm.gov/bureaus/languageandculture/bilingual-multicultural-education-programs-bmeps/bmep-reports/

English Language Proficiency (ELP)

New Mexico has been a member of the World-Class Instructional Design and Assessment (WIDA) Consortium since 2009 and first administered the ELP test ACCESS for ELLs® in 2009–2010. New Mexico administers the ACCESS assessment to all identified ELs in compliance with the ESEA, as amended, which mandates that all ELs in districts be tested annually to assess their progress in acquiring ELP. The ACCESS assessment measures students' ELP at six different levels: Entering, Emerging, Developing, Expanding, Bridging, and Reaching.

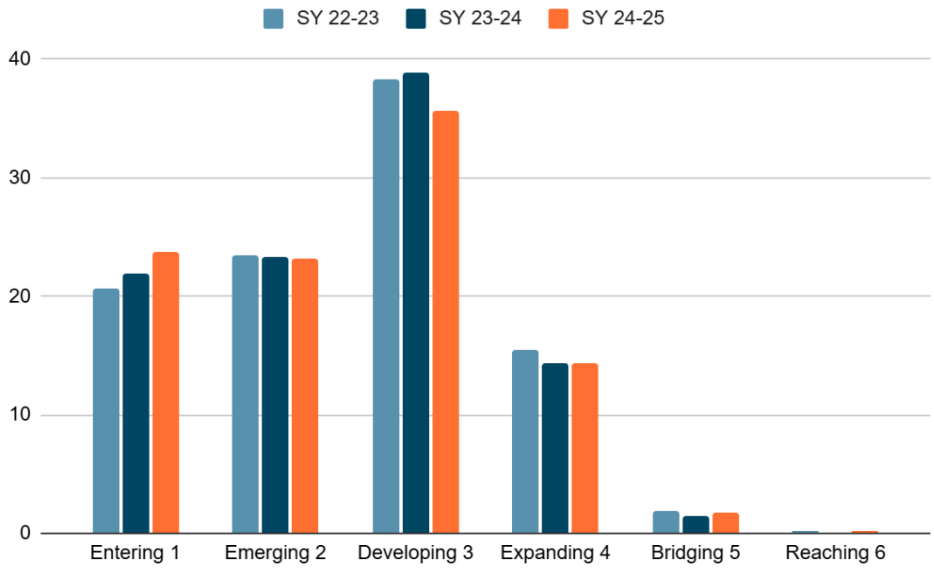

Table 8 details ELP performance for ELs in BMEPs in SY 22-23, 23-24, and 24-25 based on ACCESS results. In the 24-25 SY, the majority (38 percent) of ELs in state-funded BMEPs scored at the Developing (3).

Spanish Language Proficiency

In 2018, the BMEP Assessment Taskforce was appointed to research, review, and identify assessments for Spanish language proficiency in reading, writing, listening, and speaking that are rigorous and compliant with state regulations and standards. After conducting a review of the various assessments, the taskforce recommended Avant STAMP as the best available assessment for the students of New Mexico. Avant STAMP assessment scores are based on the ACTFL proficiency standards, which the state adopted in SY 18-19. All districts with Spanish BMEPs utilize the Avant STAMP assessment to measure growth in Spanish language proficiency. All students in a state funded BMEP who have not reached proficiency (5 in all domains) or higher, will take the Avant STAMP annually.

All districts transitioned to utilizing the Avant STAMP assessment to measure Spanish language proficiency in SY 21-22. Table 9 captures the average of the composite scores for all students in the state-funded BMEP who took the assessment in SY 23-24 and SY 24-25. For Avant STAMP data by proficiency level by district, see Appendix A.
Table 9 below shows the total number of students tested utilizing the Avant assessment by grade level K-6. The average score by language domain is shown as well as the average composite score by grade level. In SY 24-25 you can see an overall positive correlation in Spanish Language proficiency as grade-level increases in grades K-6.

Native American Language Proficiency

Students from Native American communities that participate in BMEPs are assessed for proficiency through assessments developed by each tribe, its tribal council, or other appropriate tribal entities with authority to make education decisions on behalf of Native American students. The languages for which data was self-reported by districts in SY 24-25 are Keres, Navajo (Diné), Tiwa, Tewa, Towa, and Zuni. Table 11 lists the range of Native language proficiency for students across the state for the past five years.

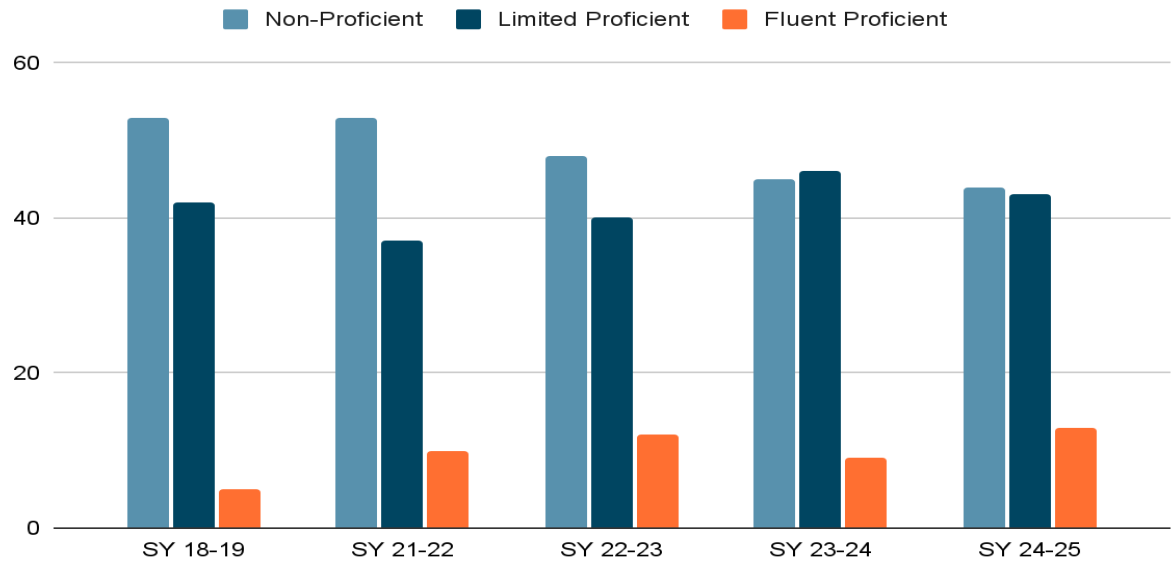

Table 11. Native American Students Language Proficiency

Year	# of Students Reported	# and (%) of Non-Proficient	# and (%) of Limited-Proficient	# and (%) of Fluent-Proficient
SY 18-19	4,806	2,524 (53%)	2,024 (42%)	258 (5%)
SY 21-22	4,214	2,238 (53%)	1,542 (37%)	434 (10%)
SY 22-23	2,865	1,380 (48%)	1,147 (40%)	338 (12%)
SY 23-24	2,307	1,041 (45%)	1,057 (46%)	209 (9%)
SY 24-25	3,517	1,557 (44%)	1,511 (43%)	449 (13%)

The number of students tested and reported for Native American language proficiency in SY 24-25 increased by 1,210 students when compared to the 23-24 SY. Additionally, there was some variance in test results from SY 23-24 and SY 24-25. The percentage of students who performed at the non-proficient level decreased by one percent and the limited-proficient level decreased by three percent. The percentage of students with performance at the fluent-proficient level increased by four percent. The self-reported data demonstrates that most students scored non-proficient and limited-proficient. There was an overall increase in assessments reported. However, since data was not submitted by all districts, and the number of students tested fluctuates, direct comparisons may not be appropriate and must be interpreted with care.

Chart 4, below, visually depicts the percentage of students scoring at each level of proficiency for the last five years for which data was submitted by districts. For Native language proficiency data reported by each district in 2024–2025, refer to Appendix B.

Chart 4. Five Year Comparison of Native American Language Proficiency

Note: Not all districts submitted data. Native American students did not participate in any summative assessments in the Spring of 2020 or 2021.

American Sign Language Proficiency

There is an American Sign Language (ASL) and English BMEP in which students from the deaf community may participate. The Albuquerque Sign Language Academy (ASLA) in Albuquerque is a charter school authorized by the Public Education Commission that employs a dual language model. The data for SY 23-24 reported to the LCD for the ASL is below in Table 12. The data for SY 23-24 reflects a positive correlation since most students assessed fell into the advanced category.

Table 12. ASL Proficiency

*Where the number of students in individual cells was too small to report, cells were merged to further comply with FERPA.

Additional Languages Proficiency

All students in a state-funded BMEP shall be assessed annually in both English and Home or Heritage language until students reach proficiency as outlined in 6.32.2.14 NMAC. Table 13 below shows the percentage of students who were assessed in Spanish Language Proficiency who scored Non-Proficient, Nearing Proficiency, and Proficient in SY 24-25, additional languages (American Sign Language, Chinese (Mandarin), French, German, Italian, and Latin). To see specific assessment results per district and language, please refer to Appendix C.

Academic Achievement for BMEP Students

In accordance with New Mexico's Bilingual Multicultural Education Act, which mandates the maintenance of academic achievement data by districts, and is aligned with the second statutory goal for Bilingual Multicultural Education Programs (BMEPs) — that students achieve all content standards across all areas — the Public Education Department (PED), through the LCD and the Research, Evaluation, and Accountability Bureau, conducts analyses of district data concerning the academic performance of BMEP participants.

The data collected comes from the Istation Indicator of Student Progress (ISIP) Early Reading and ISIP Lectura Temprana, New Mexico Measures of Student Success & Achievement (NM-MSSA), and New Mexico Assessment of Science Readiness (NM-ASR). The following subsections detail the main components used to evaluate academic outcomes for BMEP students and the effective use of funds generated by BMEPs. For additional information regarding academic achievement assessments and each of their proficiency levels, please contact the Research, Evaluation, and Accountability Bureau.

Academic Achievement Data in Reading

Table 14, below, presents reading achievement for grades K to 2 for BMEP and non-BMEP students. The results are interpretations of Istation's sophisticated, web-delivered computer-adaptive testing systems. These systems are continuously monitored by frequent assessment and reporting of students' abilities in reading throughout the year.

Istation's Indicators of Progress (ISIP) assessment system functions as both a universal screener and progress monitoring tool for literacy. It provides teachers and other school personnel with easy-to-interpret, web-based reports that detail student strengths and areas of growth and provide links to teacher resources. Use of this data allows teachers to make informed decisions more easily regarding each student's response to targeted reading instruction and intervention strategies.

School Accountability

In 2019, New Mexico (NM) Vistas was created to help families and others in our communities identify schools that are doing well in relation to their families and the community's values. NM Vistas allows families to review school data, insights, and offerings to make informed school choice decisions. NM Vistas also helps identify schools that may need extra support. To achieve these goals, NM Vistas provides information on a variety of measures of school quality and success.

In addition to these measures, NM Vistas allows schools and districts to describe some of the most important facts about their goals and their approach to achieving them. Together, this information tells a vivid story of how well New Mexico's schools are doing to prepare students for their futures in the 21st Century. For more information on NM Vistas, please see NM Vistas .

BMEP Expenditures by Budget Entities

The Bilingual Multicultural Education regulation, 6.32.2 NMAC (based on the Bilingual Multicultural Education Act, 22-23-1 NMSA 1978, as amended) requires the reporting of BMEP expenditures by September 30th of each year.

Based on the final funded amount generated by the bilingual cost differential in the funding formula for 2024-2025, budget entities were allocated $52,276,707.79 through the state equalization guarantee (SEG) for their BMEPs. The allocated amount is based on student membership and is calculated based on New Mexico's public school funding formula. There were a total of five initial program applications completed in SY 24-25.

Table 22 shows the total amount allocated to budget entities during the last five academic school years.

Table 22. Total BMEP Funds Allocated to Entities

Year	Entities Receiving Funds	Total Funds Allocated
SY 20-21	75	$36.2 Million
SY 21-22	75	$37.1 Million
SY 22-23	75	$42.7 Million
SY 23-24	75	$49.5 Million
SY 24-25	78	$52.2 Million

Note: Budget Entities refers to districts, locally (district) authorized charter schools and state (Public Education Commission) authorized charter schools.

Total BMEP Expenditures by Budget Entity

Those interested in additional information regarding certain budgeting or financial decisions for a specific budget entity are strongly encouraged to look at the Open Books Public Education Financial Transparency Portal. A result of Senate Bill 96, this portal provides access to school and district financial information from across New Mexico's public schools. As mandated by Senate Bill 96, the website provides information on:

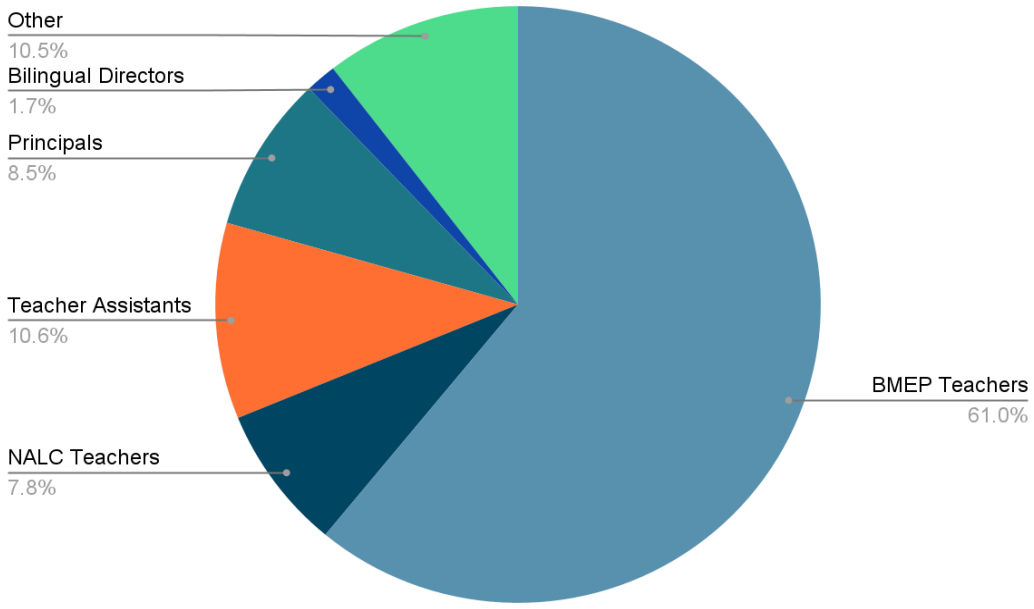

- Local, state, federal funding and budgeting, including to support at-risk students, bilingual services, and special education services.
- Actual expenditures for schools and Local Education Agencies (LEAs), including salary and benefits, program expenditures, administrative costs, and other expenditures.

Professional Development

One element of ensuring that districts are properly training educators to teach in the BMEP and support the goals outlined in the BME Act is by providing staff with relevant and specific professional development (PD). PD requirements are described in 22-23-5 NMSA and 6.32.2.13 NMAC. Public school districts shall provide professional development to teachers, Native American language and culture teachers, teacher assistants, instructional support personnel, principals, bilingual directors coordinators, associate superintendents, superintendents, other instructional personnel, and financial officers.

Given the importance of PD in supporting professional growth, classroom instructional practices, and program implementation, a variety of PD should be offered that is both robust and inclusive. Chart 5 below outlines the participation by staff classification that attended PD specific to their BMEP.

Chart 5. Participation in BMEP Professional Development by Staff Classification

Source: Self-reported by districts in the SY 24-25 Annual Progress Report submitted to the LCD. Not all districts submitted responses, and several districts submitted more than one response.

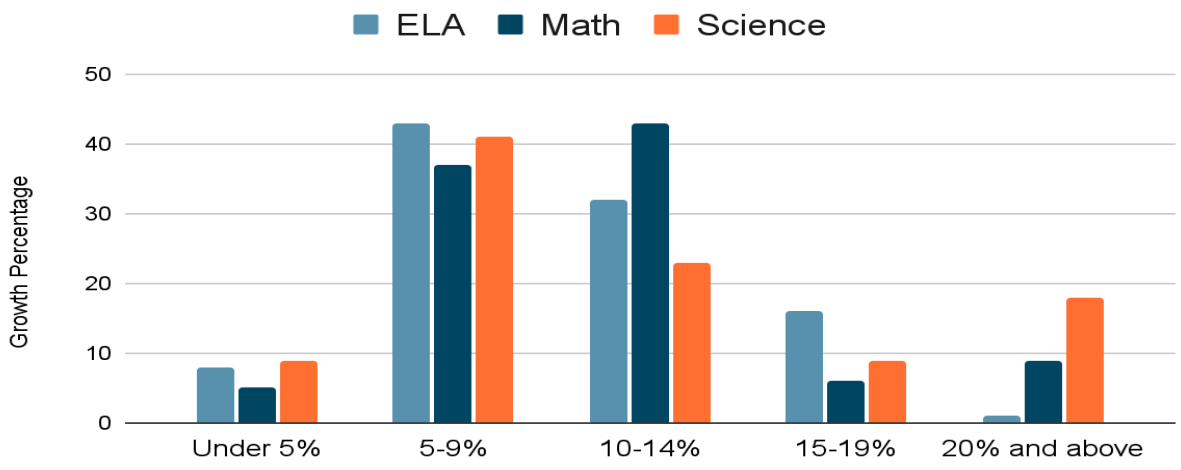

Districts self-reported that 61% of the participants in BMEP professional development were BMEP teachers, while teachers with a Native American Language Certification made up 7.8% of participants. The graph above indicates that various staff are participating in BMEP professional development.

The LCD will continue to provide increased technical assistance and guidance to support districts and schools with BMEPs to better understand PD requirements under BME Act. The LCD currently collaborates with external partners such as WIDA, Avant, Dual Language Education of New Mexico (DLeNM), and the New Mexico Association of Bilingual Education (NMABE) to connect educators statewide to PD opportunities.

Growth Goals

For academic achievement, annual progress reporting shall include specific and measurable goals for all students in a BMEP. The measurable goals ranged from under 5% growth to 20% or more growth in three different content areas (ELA, Math, and Science). Graph 6 below outlines the growth percentages by content area that were reported by districts.

Source: Self-reported by districts in SY 24-25 annual progress report submitted to the LCD. Not all districts submitted responses, and several districts reported more than one response.

All districts that self-reported growth goals in academic achievement indicated they would see an increase in all content areas. The majority of districts reported that they would see between 5-14% growth in ELA, Math, and Science. Districts reported that their BMEP measures academic achievement through various formative and summative assessments. Some districts follow their MLSS, NM-MSSA, while others noted individual classroom supplemental resources or individualized plans to help foster and support their classrooms. The approaches were unique to the districts' needs and their responses to the questions.

The LCD collaborates with districts and provides guidance in establishing effective programs to support BMEP courses. The LCD strives to inform districts about standards, instructional materials, assessments, and reporting throughout the school year. In addition, the LCD offers a BMEP Canvas course, implementing Bilingual Multicultural Education Programs each SY. In this course, participants learn valuable information and requirements of state-funded BMEPs. The Canvas course aims to support districts with BMEP implementation and effectiveness in accordance with BME Act and state regulation.

Language Growth Goals

Individual districts' language proficiency growth goals for Home/Heritage language and English can be found in Appendix D and Appendix E.

SOURCE: Self-Reported by districts in BMEP applications for SY 24-25 submitted to the LCD.

Appendix G: Total BMEP Expenditures by Budget Entity

The SEG Bilingual Appropriation is based on the bilingual education cost differential in the funding formula generated by each budget entity. The Fund 11000 (Operational) Budget shows how much each entity budgeted for bilingual program purposes and the actual amount of how much was actually spent. Budget entities report all budget information within the Operating Budget Management System (OBMS).

Open Books NM Public Education Financial Transparency Portal

This website displays Budgeted Revenue, Budgeted Expenditures, and Approved Actual Year-to-Date Revenue and Expenditure information starting with the 2020-2021 fiscal year for all state districts, state charter schools, local charter schools, and regional education cooperatives.

https://web.ped.nm.gov/open-books-public-education-financial-transparency-portal/

Each of the four functions budget entities use, which serve as sections of expenses under the budget (SEG): Function 1000 for Instruction; 2100 for Support Services provided for Students; 2200 for (additional) Support Services provided for Instruction; 2400 for Support Services provided for Administration. Out of the four functions available for this funding, the majority of SEG bilingual funding goes into Instruction (1000) for educator salaries.

Expenditures are reflected in Open Books on the state, district or school dashboard under actual expenditures by object for Special Ed, At-Risk and Bilingual Programs. Budget entities also report additional funding used to support BMEPs in OBMS and it is reflected in Open Books. Open Books may also reflect that a district or charter school budgeted a specific amount for BMEPs and expended less than was budgeted.

The amount allocated to each budget entity is listed on the table below.
